

Music....a good thing!

- Singing slows down language and helps babies understand.
- Hearing and feeling musical rhythms help children learn the sounds of language.
- Drumming and dancing encourages children to hear a beat and to move their bodies to it.
- Listening to music develops children's memory skills.

What you can do:

- Hum and sing lullabies while rocking your baby
- Make wooden spoons available for drumming
- Dance to music on the radio
- Make up silly verses to your child's favourite songs

Musical Websites

Jbrary ...tune in for storytime success

jbrary.com/youtube-playlists/

The Learning Station

www.youtube.com/user/TheLearningStation

Ontario Early Literacy Specialists

